- The park will be transformed into a sensory-friendly environment allowing individuals with ASD to enjoy a day at the park like they have never been able to before.
- Individuals not on the spectrum will have the opportunity to experience the world of autism and learn more about their family and peers – see the world through their eyes.
- Event date: May 3rd, 2018.

Facts:

- Currently, 1 in 68 children is on the spectrum. In New Jersey, the number increases to 1 in 41.
- Survey of students at Gersh Academy revealed that only 2 out of 20 families have been to an amusement park because of concerns about over stimulation. We are going to change that!
